Subject : BISTECH 3.0 Dress Rehearsal Test Announcement

To Whom It May Concern,

Reference: Announcement dated April 4, 2023, numbered 2023/16513

In the reference announcement, the information has been provided regarding the trial tests that will be conducted as part of the BISTECH 3.0 new trading system release. Technical details, scenario content, and report distribution related to these scenario-based tests were shared as attachments in the announcement. As part of the transition process, based on the requests received from our members, it has been decided to conduct two additional scenario-based member rehearsals on June 10th and July 8th, 2023.

During the rehearsals, between 09:00 and 13:00, the primary FIX DC (Drop Copy), FIX OE (Order Entry), FIX RD (Reference Data), OUCH, and ITCH servers are expected to establish connections and execute scenario steps. Between 13:00 and 17:00, as part of the transition test, the secondary FIX DC (Drop Copy), FIX OE (Order Entry), FIX RD (Reference Data), OUCH, and ITCH servers are expected to complete the test scenarios. Additionally, during the rehearsals, existing users, excluding data vendor users, will be able to connect to the BISTECH 3.0 environment with the same passwords they use for the live system. New users can obtain their passwords from the Connect platform. Data vendor users will connect with test passwords.

In order to ensure the successful completion of the rehearsals, it is expected that the information provided in the mentioned announcement and its attachments will be taken into account and evaluated together. Takasbank will share a separate announcement containing technical details and scenario contents specific to the rehearsals.

With the transition to the new environment as part of BISTECH 3.0, it is important for members who have not participated in previous scenario-based dress rehearsals and free connection tests, as well as software providers, colocation customers, and data vendors to participate in the tests on the dates mentioned above.
