Subject: Announcement About Transfers That Our Members Can Make From Their Sub-Accounts Followed Under The CBRT Accounts

To Whom It May Concern

Banks operating in Precious Metals Market will be able to transfer from their sub-accounts followed under CBRT accounts only to another sub-account followed under CBRT accounts or their own portfolio accounts by March, 09 th on and apart from these accounts they will not be able to make transfer transactions.

In this context, due to the issuance transactions of banks, the gold which banks would like to transfer from their sub-accounts followed under CBRT account to the depository account in the name of Treasury will first be collected in their own portfolio accounts, then with a commission charged they will be transferred to depository account in the name of Treasury. But, the implementation of not charging commission for the gold returning to the bank account will continue in redemption transactions.
